Response: The FDA does some drug testing, but generally for both brand name and generic drugs, the sponsors of the application do the testing and submit their results to us. Drug companies must submit an abbreviated new drug application (ANDA) for approval to sell a generic product. That process does not require the drug sponsor to repeat costly animal and clinical research on ingredients or dosage forms that are already FDA-approved for safety and effectiveness.

In the case of pitavastatin acid, sulforaphane had no significant effect on the expression of MDR1 mRNA. These results suggested that some statins could induce MDR1 and CYP3A gene expression and these inductive effects differed between the lactone and active hydroxy acid forms, and that PXR-mediated regulation was rarely associated with the mRNA inducibility by pitavastatin acid, unlike that by other statins.
